Supplying water for our communities for the long term takes securing reliable water reserves and creating a strategic plan to manage our most valued resource... water. With planning and strategy that looks 50-100 years down the road, we want to ensure a plentiful and cost-effective water supply now and long into the future.

This October marked the 50th anniversary of The Woodlands, Texas. The Woodlands has been consistently ranked as one of the top communities in America to live, work, play, and pray. SJRA is honored to serve such an outstanding community with water and wastewater services! Read our Dock Line article below to learn about how SJRA serves The Woodlands.

50 Years in The Woodlands

Let us take a walk down memory lane to 1975 when the Woodlands Division was formed. The Woodlands Township was created by George P. Mitchell in 1974 as a Master Planned Community that provided everything he envisioned residents would need to live, work, play and pray, and yes, that included water and wastewater treatment. However, as The Woodlands developed, the original MUD at the time quickly realized that they did not want to manage the water and wastewater plants. With this being the case, the SJRA Woodlands Division was formed to be the wholesale water and wastewater provider for the MUDs.

The San Jacinto River Authority (SJRA) receives no money from the state, nor does it collect any type of taxes.

SJRA's mission is to develop, conserve, and protect the water resources of the San Jacinto River basin. Covering all or part of seven counties, the organization's jurisdiction includes the entire San Jacinto River watershed, excluding Harris County. The SJRA is one of two dozen river authorities in the State of Texas, and like other river authorities, its primary purpose is to implement long-term, regional projects related to water supply and wastewater treatment.
